

30/09/2022

Kyiv, Ukraine

Commission for Conducting Independent Assessment of Effectiveness of the National Agency on Corruption Prevention's Activity began its work on January 24, 2022. The assessment is performed pursuant to the Law of Ukraine "On Corruption Prevention" and aimed at ascertaining quality and effectiveness of the Agency's activities in 2020-2021.

Before the RF's full-scale invasion in Ukraine, the Commission organized its work, made a first visit to Kyiv and held a first round of interviews with NACP's employees and other stakeholders, as well as launched an active data collection and study of available information.

In March, the Commission adopted a decision to suspend its activities in the light of the introduced Martial Law in Ukraine and respective changes in the functioning of NACP and other state authorities. On June 6, international experts resumed their activity as the National Agency had managed to resume its activity and the assessment process could continue.

After resuming its work, the Commission sent over 130 basic questionnaires to governmental and non-governmental stakeholders, including NACP. The Commission received approx. 40 completed questionnaires and is grateful to all governmental and non-governmental institutions, as well as experts who joined the initiative and provided their responses. The Commission, jointly with the Secretariat, continues active analysis of received responses and other available materials. A second round of interviews with NACP's employees and other stakeholders based on this analysis is tentatively scheduled to be held in October.

The Commission has also launched a selection of specific cases considered by NACP back in 2020-2021 and holds respective consultations with NACP.

The Commission is working to complete its work as soon as possible. As a result of its activities, the Commission will prepare a report in accordance with requirements of the Assessment Methodology, including recommendations on improving NACP's efficiency in future.

Please, submit your media requests to: info.nacp.ic@gmail.com.